

Emergency Management and Response

Businesses must be prepared to respond to an emergency, regardless of size. Such response capabilities are operationally beneficial. Often emergency response protocols are mandated from local or regulatory agencies. Organizations that understand and have evaluated the magnitude of threats to their operations can develop emergency response plans that are effective, maintain the safety and health of personnel and reduce the overall impact of an event.

Our consultants can:

- Review your existing emergency response plans
- Assist with your emergency response plan testing and validation efforts
- Develop emergency response plans for existing or new operations
- Assist with your regulatory compliance efforts
- Provide non-hazard emergency response related training and education to your staff
- Help assure your emergency response plans are incorporated into your business continuity management program
- Develop plans that help mitigate business interruption

Continuity Innovations

Aon's Business Continuity Planning offerings include the review, analysis and development of emergency response plans, the first tactical step in a business continuity management program.

Our strength lies in the development of emergency response plans that are designed to address general and specific emergencies that may impact your operations. Our business continuity planning consultants develop practical approaches to emergency response planning, evaluation and implementation. We take you beyond plans that look good on paper — we will help you develop plans that work. Additionally, we consult on the following:

- Setting emergency response goals
- Designing evacuation routes and staging areas
- Evaluating and enhancing emergency response communications
- Establishing event triggers and plan activation requirements

Education and Training Initiatives

Aon offers a wide selection of education and training services. Through seminars, workshops or general training sessions, we can assist you in developing staff capabilities to assure your emergency response plans are functional and truly make a difference.

Designing Solutions

Through structured engagements, we can be there, assisting you with your event response activities. Let us help you succeed when faced with an emergency.
