

Power

Renewable energy insurance overview

The increasing scale of renewable energy projects, technological advances and globalisation are creating challenges for the power sector. Aon specialises in providing clients with innovative, comprehensive and cost effective risk management solutions

Companies in the renewable energy sector need a risk partner with the knowledge and experience to deliver tailored risk advisory and insurance solutions.

We have the knowledge, experience and commitment to provide clients in the renewable energy sector with a specialist, value driven service. We support project owners, investors, developers, manufacturers and contractors around the world throughout the life-cycle of their renewable energy projects.

We offer contractual, project and financial risk management analysis and create insurance strategies that enable our clients to protect cash flow and secure scarce capital.

Respond to change

Expertise, innovation and understanding are all priorities of Aon's renewable energy team. In order to provide excellent service for a variety of renewable energy businesses we continually invest in our team, ensuring we have an intimate knowledge of the industry and can provide expert risk advice.

We represent clients in sectors across the renewable energy industry, including:

- Wind: onshore and offshore
- Biomass
- Small-scale hydroelectric
- Wave
- Solar: photovoltaic and thermal
- Biofuel
- Geothermal
- Tidal

Support the market's evolution

Aon has exceptional relationships with renewable energy underwriters worldwide. We encourage new insurance market entrants to ensure innovation and competition in the insurance markets that will ultimately benefit our clients.

With our intimate understanding of this fast-moving sector and its risk and insurance needs, we are ideally placed to bring new, often prototypical risks to insurers. By accessing the global marketplace via our placement hubs we also ensure that our clients enjoy the most comprehensive, innovative and cost-effective cover.

Aon's Power team

Aon's renewable energy experts are part of Aon's Power team which brings together over 200 power and utility specialists from around the world in one dedicated team. We offer global, industry specific multi-line insurance brokerage, client service, loss control, claims advocacy and management services. We also work closely with colleagues specialising in risk mapping and strategic risk consulting to assess our client's total risk profile.

For more information, please contact
power@aon.com