

Aon appoints Canadian national director to its Public Sector practice

New role will lead delivery of a wide range of capabilities to municipalities, post-secondary institutions, and other organizations

TORONTO, November 3, 2017 – Aon plc (NYSE: AON), the leading global professional services firm providing a broad range of risk, retirement and health solutions, recently announced the appointment of David Edgar, as National Director, Public Sector. Edgar joins Aon’s national Public Sector team, serving a wide range of government and other public entities.

“Organizations in the public sector face a number of unique challenges and opportunities,” said Douglas Correa, Executive Vice President and Director of National Global Specialties at Aon. “David brings extensive expertise and an ability to lead dynamic teams, providing our public sector clients with the latest ideas and solutions.”

Under Edgar’s leadership, Aon’s Public Sector practice will continue to work with clients on emerging risk issues, such as cannabis legalization, crisis management and terrorism, 3D printing, and unmanned aerial vehicles. Edgar will also bring his experience as the general manager of QBE Canada to help clients understand complexities and innovations within the insurance market.

David also previously worked at Aon, with over 22 years of experience leading a number of different groups and highly successful projects. He will be based in Winnipeg.
