

Incident Response Planning & Playbook Development

Get an incident response plan or playbook that will mean you'll be able to respond confidently on the day you're breached.

The Need

The stakes are higher than ever. Many organizations now know they need an incident response plan or playbook. But strong incident response planning requires a level of sophistication and foresight that comes only with unrivalled experience in resolving data breaches.

How We Help

We develop formal incident response plans and playbooks. We'll also take a look at your existing plans, offering prioritized recommendations where necessary. With our guidance, you'll be able to respond confidently in the event of a cyber attack and employ better processes and decision-making. This will mean you'll be able to rapidly detect, contain and recover.

Our tailored, comprehensive plans consider your organization's industry threat landscape, governance model, and security framework. We engage key internal and external stakeholders, including across legal, information security, risk, communications and human resources to deliver a plan that is all-encompassing, easily understood and can be activated confidently in a time of crisis. We also serve as trusted incident responders during – and after – a breach, so we can help you rapidly restore normal business operations and inhibit reoccurrence should an incident occur.

Why Us

Go-To Firm for Cyber Security

We are leaders in cyber security testing and incident response. Ninety percent of the companies that suffered from the largest breaches in the last decade entrusted their security to us.<sup>1</sup>

Industry-Specific Knowledge

We assign a team with knowledge in your industry. Because our people know your business, and we understand the challenges you face, we can develop a plan you're confident in.
