Foul without Fear
An insurance concept for professional footballers
During all that time when I was off sick with my serious injury Aon handled everything for me so I was able to concentrate totally on getting well again.

ROMEO CASTELEN
I urge each and every professional athlete to think about the potential financial consequences of a serious illness or injury.

RENÉ ADLER
Private Health Insurance and Loss of Earnings Insurance

Our experts know what type of private health insurance benefits are important to a professional athlete. In addition there should be protection for loss of earnings in the event of an injury using a unique daily allowance insurance. If an athlete is unable to work, he receives an agreed daily allowance after the statutory wage continuation has expired. This secures the athlete’s income, if he is unable to work for long periods.

Sports Disability Insurance

Sports disability insurance is a type of cover tailored to suit the requirements of professional athletes. It is taken out to secure the financial future of the professional footballer in the event of being unable to play permanently (end of his career). There is also the option of covering death risk (protection for the family). This insurance gives professional athletes optimal protection of their financial interests. For this purpose Aon has developed an exclusive insurance concept, which is more comprehensive than other covers currently offered in the market.

What does it actually mean – statutory wage continuation when you fall ill or get injured? You don’t realise this until you have an injury for more than 6 weeks!

MARTIN LANIG
When you have 140 games one after the other, you don’t think about accidents or injuries. In real life this is just when it hits you. I had to stop playing for 8 months and I am very glad that during this time Aon was there to give me first class support.
