Expanding Risks for Retailers

While the Retail environment has been challenging, there seems to be a rebirth in the air. Robots, drones and Omnichannel have all changed the landscape our clients operate in, thus making innovation and retention of top talent more important now than ever before. Continuous evolution in cyber security is a dominating topic for firms as they map strategies to mitigate potential breaches and changing legislation. Business continuity and supply chain disruption, blockchain and cryptocurrencies and final mile innovative logistics are all emerging to the forefront. These trends look toward futuristic exposures, forcing retailers to address some unique risks. Natural disasters and catastrophic losses create a great need for established processes around supply chain disruption and redirection of assets. Doing so allows our clients to react quickly and deploy solutions efficiently. And finally, with healthcare and worker’s compensation costs increasing dramatically, the need to control total cost of risk and claims management are key to ensuring success across a firm.

At Aon, we have a deep understanding of these and adjacent issues. This market experience and knowledge is why Aon’s Retail Industry Practice can help clients develop flexible, cost-effective solutions for risk financing needs.

Data & Analytics at Aon
The Heart of Aon Inpoint

As the insurance industry increases its reliance on big data, analytics, and digitization, Aon is leading the way by building the world’s preeminent repository of risk and insurance information.

Aon Inpoint delivers data-base tools and data sets, powered by Aon GRIP and Aon Risk/View. This helps us understand trends and develop insights such as placement benchmarks and the impact of alternate program structures on pricing. GRIP allows us to have a pulse on the marketplace. This resource aims to translate to cost savings for our clients.

Aon GRIP®
Aon GRIP is unique in its ability to benchmark like risks placed throughout the globe, helping our Aon Inpoint carriers and clients evaluate insurer performance and anticipate shifts in the market.

Aon Risk/View
Aon Risk/View, our key resource for market and risk insights for clients, colleagues, and carriers, is unique in its ability to benchmark like risks placed throughout the globe.

Retail Industry Benchmarking
Aon’s Actuarial Practice has been benchmarking casualty costs for over 20 years, allowing retailers to leverage industry-specific data to gauge the effectiveness of their programs. This report provides comprehensive data on key issues and concerns for retailers, while allowing them to benchmark their risk management and risk financing strategies against those of their peers.

Casualty Laser Diagnostic
Aon’s Casualty Risk Consulting Practice has performed over 60 Laser™ Diagnostics for a variety of retailers. This proprietary tool compares over 90 quantitative and qualitative performance indicators, benchmarking against top performers.
